

Nurse Unit Manager – Perioperative Services

Benalla Health

Benalla Health is seeking an experienced and suitably qualified professional for this exceptional opportunity in one of Victoria's highest performing public health services. Benalla Health enjoys an enviable reputation and provides a range of acute, residential aged care and community-based services. Based some 200 kms north of Melbourne, Benalla is close to wineries, the world-class Winton Wetlands and offers many other leisure and sporting activities in addition to all the other services you and your family would expect.

Reporting to the Director of Clinical Services, the NUM-Perioperative Services provides clinical leadership, operational management and strategic direction across perioperative, central supply, day procedure and transfusion service. The NUM-Perioperative Services will ensure the delivery of a cost effective service focused on high quality patient outcomes and Perioperative excellence. The role will actively participate as a partner in building sub-regional Perioperative service relationships to enhance continuity of care and support.

Candidates will have current AHPRA registration, relevant qualifications and experience in perioperative services that demonstrates advanced clinical skills across a range of perioperative areas. Post-graduate qualification in Perioperative Nursing and/or nursing management is highly desirable.

An attractive remuneration package will be negotiated with the successful applicants.
